

POSITIVE FOOT PROTECTION
in a matter of seconds, right over your street Shoes.

OSBORN PRO-TEK-TO SHOE CAPS

Now here's positive foot protection without changing shoes!

In the time it takes you to read this paragraph, PRO-TEK-TO shoe caps can be slipped right over your street shoes. (One size fits most.) You can slip them off again just as quickly once the hazard has passed.

This is the EASY way to comply with safety requirements for employees with occasional risk situations or plant visitors who seldom come with safety toe footwear.

Whereas most safety toe foot wear has been styled for men, PRO-TEK-TO comes in two (2) styles for women. Taking into account the unique shape of a women's street shoe, including the possibility of a high heel, the OG-3501 is shaped accordingly; for those women who prefer an athletic style shoe that has grown so popular in recent years, the OG-3502 provides the same heightened level of protection.

When the need is to protect the entire top of the foot, the PRO-TEK-TO OG-3625 fills the bill perfectly. This item made in a unisex design to accomodate works well with all shoes because of its extra length.

As good as artificial limbs have become in recent years they are still no real replacement for the two you were born with. Osborn wants to help keep yours in top notch working order.

. . . And sometimes you need to protect more than just your feet.

Your shins are not generally considered an irresistible force, but they just may on occasion meet an immovable object. What will happen? Nothing if you are wearing PRO-TEK-TO OG-3700 shin caps. Although we all like to think of ourselves as graceful as olympic quality gymnasts there are times that prudence demands that our shins be protected from occasional falling objects or the protruding immovable object. A pair of OG-3700 completes your knee to toe protective gear at a weight of less than one pound per leg.
